

Customer Service is extremely important to us. Our Technicians will respond to your emergency situation on the spot with all the equipment to the job that is required without anything other than a simple phone call. Here are some reasons why having service performed may make sense....

- Let us prove to you how reliable and effective our equipment is prior to purchasing it. We own what we sell, always making product improvements based on our extensive experience.
- If this is a one-time urgent situation, why call a borescope rental equipment company and lose a day trying to figure out the best way to carry out the inspection? You may receive equipment that is ineffective for the inspection while our experts carry with them all that is needed to get the job done.
- Capital Equipment Budgets being as tight as they are now, it is easier to find additional money fast without a long approval process.
